Mrs. Louis Eppinger

The officers and members of the Eastwood Recreation are happy to report, after a week of hard work the playground now belongs to them.

The procession of the supper and carnival held July 20 made it possible to pay the debt of the debt.

The community extends its thanks to the chairman, Mrs. Kenny Evans and her helpers for the long hours and hard work they did to make the carnival a success.

After the debt was paid, the recreation had very little left in the treasury. Mrs. Holland, county recreation supervisor, has come to the rescue by planning a ham or chicken supper on the play grounds. This will be Tuesday evening, August 12.

A very interesting movie, one both young and old will enjoy will be held in the school house following the supper. Proceeds to be used to finance the beginning of next year's program. Public invited.

Everyone sure is going to miss Miss Anna Simmons' around Eastwood. She has gone to spend the remainder of the summer with her grandmother, Mrs. E. E. Flowers, at Morandale, Ky.

Mr. Earl Gooding, of Washington, D. C., is spending some time with his sister, Mrs. Walter Maddox, Long Run, Mrs. Maddox has been ill. She is pleased that he plans to stay until she is well.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Eppinger are attending a birthday dinner, Sunday, at the home of Mrs. Louis Eppinger, Jr., of Louisville.

Ten years ago the advice given about this house was "Tear it down." However, the family that had just bought it took a second look. This led to a second life for the house because they decided the basic structure was sound enough to justify remodeling. The old screened porch was converted into an open one leading onto a concrete terrace. Asbestos siding was placed over the old clapboards. New asphalt roof shingles were applied directly on top of the old wood roofing, a reinforcing method that eliminates the expense of taking worn material off. Asphalt shingles were chosen for two main reasons—fire resistance for safety, and color for attractiveness. A soft red was chosen from among the many solid and blended colors in which asphalt shingles are made.

BE MARKETWISE

By MIRIAM KELLEY

Field Agent in Marketing and Consumer Information, Extension Service, Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics, U. S. D. A. Co-operating.

Picnic pleasure can be yours if the planning is well done, if the food is good, with variety, and if the plenty enough to suit the crowd. Picnics are a sure cure for hot weather appetites, but be sure no one person does too much of the work before and at the picnic.

Picnic place is important, whether the group be small or large. Comfort is the cue. The place selected should be a clean, shady spot where there is safe drinking water, facilities for building a fire, space for recreation, and restroom facilities available. And don't forget, leaving the picnic site in as good or better condition than you find it makes for more complete satisfaction of everyone.

Picnic pointers to help with the planning should include the following. The menu should be simple, plan only three or four dishes, but have ample food for everyone, second, maybe even thirds if you know your crowd that well. The food should be nutritious, that means a well balanced meal, as important as with any other meal. Make it appealing, use foods that go well together in flavor, color, and texture. Easy-to-prepare food gives the cook (that's probably you, Mom) unhurried effort in getting ready to go, more time for getting into the picnic. Let the food be inexpensive, too, food that is in season and easily available.

Picnic packing can be done so that the food is served as you want it—cool and crisp, or still warm from the oven. The makings of a salad can be packed into plastic bags with ice cubes and kept cool. The salad tossed just at the picnic, or serve just "finger" foods, that's picnic style. Chilled melon can be wrapped in several layers of newspaper for cool keeping. Pack ground beef freshly mixed and made into patties with sheets of waxed paper or aluminum foil between layers, frankfurters, or other meats in wide-mouthed thermos jars. Or pack in other containers with ice around the meat package. Sandwiches will probably be better at meal time if you have one spread his own when it's time to eat. Bread can be buttered at meal time, sliced and together sandwich fashion, wrap wrapped in a clean damp cloth.

Individually wrapped sandwiches from the freezer are another safe way to be sure of goodness—they're usually thawed just right by the time you're ready to eat. Picnic purchases are important if there's to be food just in amount. Let's look at some of the quantities needed for twenty-five; if you're fifty to feed, multiply by two! For a mixed sandwich filling of meat, egg, or fish, one and one-half quarts should spread twenty-five sandwiches. It's a sweet dried fruit filling, a quart will be enough. About 7 pounds of tomatoes will give two slices per person. Six and a half pounds of frankfurters or 9 pounds of ground beef should feed the crowd. If it's a fishy picnic, 7½ pounds of fish fillets or steaks will be enough. Make about 4½ quarts of potato salad to give generous half-cup servings, or use a pound package of potato chips. A 10 inch x 12 inch loaf cake will give 25 servings. You'll need about 3½ quarts of bulk ice cream for generous cones. To make lemonade, figure on one gallon of lemon juice with 1½ gallons of water, the amount of sugar to depend on the sweetness desired.

Service Machinery Before Rush Season

The big season of work is here. If you haven't prepared your equipment for the long hard grind, you better hurry.

What about the tractor? If it has an oil leak in the burn through the cold months, it needs attention. Service chores now are easier than later when the mud is in the midst of the rush season.

Give your tractor a spring lift with fresh oil, grease and gasoline. Stale gasoline literally gums up an engine; clean the carburetor carefully making sure there's no gum in jets and in the float chamber. The oil probably had hours of use last fall, so change it. Examine the oil filter; if the element is dirty, play safe. Install a new one.

Next, check the ignition system and the spark plugs. You can tape a minor break but if the ignition cable insulation is brittle, don't take a chance put in a new set of cables.

Have the spark plugs cleaned and adjusted, even though they were new last season. While they're scientifically designed to keep a minor break but if the ignition cable insulation is brittle, don't take a chance put in a new set of cables.

Ways to Control Farm Pond Fish Loss Outlined

Wild life specialists warn farm owners should be on the look out for possible death of fish in their ponds during spring and summer months, and outline methods to control this loss.

Only a few ponds show a partial kill of fish each year, and in practically all cases the cause can not be determined. In some instances, however, the loss of fish has been directly connected with a deficiency of phosphorus, a high concentration of carbon dioxide, and a lack of oxygen, specialists report.

Should a pond owner see a number of bluish and black swimming close to the surface of the water, he should distribute 50 to 100 pounds of 18 per cent superphosphate per acre over the pond in the early morning, specialists suggest.

Then, between three and four o'clock in the afternoon he should stir the water thoroughly by use of an outboard motor attached to a boat. Several motors on boats should be used if available.

Stirring the water with motors helps to distribute oxygen in the upper water level throughout the pond.

GET MAXIMUM PROFITS FROM LAYING FLOCKS

Profitable egg production requires a definite plan of management and feeding. Hens never reach their capacity to lay lots of eggs unless they are comfortable, free from disease and are fed a ration that provides the essential nutrients for body upkeep and egg production.

The goal of every poultryman who houses a flock of laying hens should be:

1. 200 or more eggs per bird housed the first year.
  2. Produce each dozen eggs on less than 5½ pounds of feed.
  3. Maintain less than 10% mortality.
- Many factors determine whether these goals are reached but most important are comfortable housing and proper feeding. Provide 3 to 3½ feet of floor space per hen, 7 to 9 inches of roost space, 2 to 3-to-5 floor founts for each 100 hens, and one nest for each 7 hens. In addition, plenty of window space and proper ventilation are needed.

Whether hens are being fed a complete ration or mash and grain, it is important to keep feed consumption high. The amount that should be fed will depend on egg production, size of birds and other conditions. One hundred medium size birds should consume between 25 and 32 pounds of feed daily when egg production is between 50 and 70 per cent. Checkers fed on top of the mash at noon will increase feed consumption. Use them more liberally in cold weather. Keep layers comfortable and feed them properly in order to get lots of eggs to sell at the good prices that are expected during coming months.

LESSONS TO LEARN

A STORY of the Orient tells of a youth who asked a sage for help against a powerful chieftain whose enemy he had incurred. After luring him to a distant mountain the sage asked him to a large stone and apparently left him to his fate. Believing himself betrayed, the youth found he could reach the stone alone, and he ultimately gained strength enough to walk off with it. His first object was to wreak vengeance on the sage, who, however, when faced with treachery, pointed out to the youth that he had now gained sufficient strength to deal with his enemy himself.

Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, writes in the textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" (p. 370), "The suffering sense seems wrathful and afflictive. Love can make an angel entertained unawares." And in "The First Church of Christ, Scientist, and Miscellany" she says (p. 149), "Remember, thou canst be brought into no condition, be it ever so severe, where Love has not been before and where his tender lesson is not awaiting thee."

Perhaps we have come to the point where, like the children of Israel at the Red Sea, we are confronted with what seems an impassable barrier, and yet we can
